Disputed Building Permits Held Up By The Selectmen

Building permits for five homes on Rattlesnake Hill rd. have been withdrawn by the selectmen.

Robert Leathers of Newton originally received the permits after the planning board said it had no authority over the subdivision he now owns in that area. The sub-division was recorded in 1921 and does not meet current zoning specifications as to frontage and lot area.

All-Time High Tax Rate Of $53 Announced; Is Jump Of $6 Over 1954

"Not Bad", Dr. Emmons Reports On Clark Brook

Conditions in Ballardvale's Clark brook "are not bad", Dr. William V. Emmons asserted this week.

His report followed an inspection of the brook with board of health member Charles O. McCullom, last Saturday. It was prompted by a demand for action in getting homeowners to enter the sewer line in that area by Mrs. Wendell Hopkins, 12 Chester st.

Valuations Climb By Half - Million Over 1954 Level

A record-breaking $53 tax rate has been announced by the assessors.

It exceeds last year's $47 dollar figure by $6 - and last year's rate was a peak figure.

Blow Softened

The tax blow was softened somewhat by town meeting, which voted to spend some $235,000 from available funds - money raised in preceding years. Thus,

The fate of some $18,000 in a servicemen's trust fund may be decided within a week.

Atty. Anna M. Greeley, a trustee, explained this week that a meeting will be called of the seven trustees of the fund within a week. She said a decision on using the money for a home for the four veterans organizations will be made.

Open Meeting Planned

After the trustees meet, she said, there will be an open meeting with the commanders of the veterans posts, any members or veterans who care to attend and

The real possibility of a Sunday two-service arrangement at the West Parish church within two or three years was voiced this week by the Rev. Hugh B. Penney.

Mr. Penney pointed out that many churches in other areas regularly hold two Sunday morning services and two Sunday school sessions. He expressed satisfaction with that arrangement when it becomes necessary at the West Parish church.

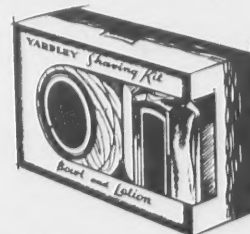

Even the planned addition to the present building would not relieve the necessity for doubling up on Sundays, Mr. Penney declared.

BUILDING PERMITS HELD UP BY BOARD

Selectmen Act

The selectmen temporarily held up the permits, with the planning board seeking legal advice as to its responsibility regarding that parcel and other sub-divisions in the town.

The zoning board of appeals, meanwhile, is considering the request for a variance under a similar situation, in which the applicant wants to sub-divide adjoining lots to a sub-division he now owns, which does not meet zoning requirements.

Special Town Meeting

The possibility that a special town meeting will be required to unravel the snarl has been mentioned. It is said by some that only a change in the town by-laws will give the planning board authority over sub-divisions recorded prior to present zoning laws went into affect. Others maintain that there are legal methods of requiring owners to obey present zoning laws without resorting to the town meeting.

Answer Soon

The board has told Mr. Leathers that he may expect an answer at a June 27 meeting. It is expected that legal precedents will have been studied by that time and other possibilities investigated.

The present zoning requirement where Mr. Leathers seeks to build homes calls for 150-foot frontage and 30,000 square feet of land

CAROL ANN FOLLEY

By Barbara Frawsell

For the past year the Punchard column has been written by Carol Folley. Many of us know Carol as the girl who works part-time at the Andover Playhouse but others of us know her as one of Punchard's most active students.

Committee Membership

Carol has been a member of the Punchard high All-Girl's band for six years; a member of the Punchard orchestra and a member of the school's Glee club.

Carol has many interests other than music. She has served on the social committee for three years and in her sophomore year she was the chairman of this committee. She has served as homeroom secretary, PTSA representative, on the staff of the school's newspaper, on the Year Book committee, and on the prom planning board. She is also a member of the Honor society.

Busy Socially

Carol's social activities also are many. She was an usherette at graduation in her Junior year and a prom usherette in her Junior year. She has appeared in a school play and she also participated actively in Senior Stunt nite. At the close of her freshman year, she was recognized by being awarded the V.F.W. Post 2128, award.

CAROL ANN DESROCHER

Carol lists her hobbies as dancing, jewelry making, and roller skating and she is very able in all three.

In September Carol will begin her studies to be a laboratory aide at Lowell General hospital.

Carol Ann Desrocher, a member of the class of 1957, will be the Punchard correspondent for next year. She is the daughter of Mr.
 and Mrs. Edward Desrocher, 21 Florence st.

In her sophomore year, Carol has served on the class dance committee and the Prom refreshment committee.

Honor Student

She was also on the Junior high's dance committee and the ninth grade beach party committee.
 While in the seventh grade Carol was in the annual play and has been an honor student for the past years.

She is taking the general commercial course.

Final Exams

The juniors and sophomores had their final examinations on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday of this week. The seniors did not have to take them.

Vacation

The last day of school for the seniors was Monday, but the rest of the week they were rehearsing for graduation, Sunday, June 19.
 They will be officially through with school on that day.

Juniors and sophomores will attend school until June 24.

In case anyone's interested, school resumes on Sept. 7, 1955.

Feature Articles

The feature articles about the various outstanding students that have appeared in this column were a Student Council activity.

There have been many "unsung heroes" at Punchard. Time and space have limited the number of students who could be publicly recognized but the teachers and fellow students know who they are.

Therefore, I should like to dedicate this week's column to all the deserving students in the senior class who have not already been acknowledged for their work.

Good luck to every senior and have a good summer!

Thanks To All

Today ends my writing of the Punchard High column for the Townsman.

I have had the privilege and honor to write the happenings at the high school as I saw them.

I would like to express my appreciation to the Headmaster, Lindsay J. March; the teachers and students who have helped me obtain the news items.

I hope my successor, Carol Desrocher, experiences this same feeling of co-operation.

I should like to say good-bye to all my readers at this time and I hope they will continue to read the Punchard column in the coming years, as I shall be doing.

Graduation Congratulations

Commencement time, 1955.

It's the time for wistful looks back over the good school years and a period for frank and thoughtful consideration of the road that lies ahead.

It is also a time for us to earnestly hope that this year's graduates will never have to face the road to war that confronted graduates in other years.

Rather, we hope, the high school graduate this year will have the good fortune to live in a peaceful era, when he or she can follow a chosen profession without the dread of interruption.

With graduation scheduled for Sunday-next for the Punchard senior class; with commencements now completed at Phillips academy, Abbot academy and St. Augustine's school, we take this opportunity to say "Congratulations" to all the graduates.

May you fare well through the coming years!

Hearing On Route 28

Route 28 will be debated again next Monday night at 8:15. The auditorium at the Central school has been designated as the place.

There probably will be something useful come of the public hearing.

Three town boards — public works, selectmen and planning — will first discuss the matter privately and then hold the hearing so that any citizen of the town may speak his mind.

There are many legitimate grievances over proposals for the location of the new road.

Those people whose streets will become dead ends are rightfully distressed. Others who indicate opposition to installation of overpasses instead of an access to the new highway at one or two locations are also voicing legitimate criticism.

All these matters will be ironed out — or at least debated to the last detail — at the hearing. If a representative of the state is present, so much the better. For he perhaps could answer some of the questions bound to arise from a meeting of that kind.

No matter how well-deserved is the criticism, however, we want to point out one fact.

There never, in the history of the commonwealth, has been a highway project that did not injure some men and women. It can't be helped.

We want to see every possible concession on the part of the state so that residents here will be as happy as possible with the new highway. But it is worth remembering that not all complaints, no matter how justifiable, can be eliminated without endangering the successful completion of the project.

the press.

The use to which the fund will be put has been a matter of conjecture for some time.

Originally, the servicemen's fund was started so that gifts could be sent to servicemen at Christmas time; for birthday remembrances and other reminders at the folks at home had not forgotten their men in the armed forces.

About $20,000 was left after the war, it is reported, with about $2000 of that amount loaned to veterans who established their need and could find no other means of raising the money.

May Not Poll Vets

The remaining $18,000 was placed in a trust fund under terms that would require a majority of all Andover veterans to be agreed in its use. Miss Greeley said it appears doubtful whether there is enough interest among veterans here to take an accurate poll.

However the trust agreement allows the trustees to amend the terms of the trust — so that the seven-member board could agree to make a binding decision among their own membership.

Five of the seven members were among the originators of the fund during World War II, Miss Greeley pointed out. She said the members are loath to just turn the money over to a project if there is some doubt that it can be carried to a successful conclusion.

Veterans Apathy

The idea of building a veterans home here is not new, but Miss Greeley said there has been some doubt about the actual interest of enough veterans to insure success.

Pointing out that only about 100 veterans showed up for Memorial Day exercises of some 2400 in town, she indicated that the trustees feel uncertain of the ability of the interested veterans to carry out a building project and maintain it over the years.

She estimated that closer to $35,000 might be required to build an adequate building and equip it. Maintenance would be a continuing problem, she declared.

No Matching Funds

If the veterans had come up with an amount nearly equal to that in the fund, she said, there would be no doubt of the desirability of the project. However, she said she understands there to be no where near that amount available from the veterans organizations.

Originally, she explained, the trust agreement called for disposition of the money in 1954. That section was amended so that a decision by Nov. 1, 1955 is required.

Speaking of the lack of interest among veterans, she pointed out that there would be no hesitancy to go ahead with the building project if 75 percent of the veterans were active and interested. The small number actually working in veterans affairs is what disturbs the trustees.

Miss Ann Higgins, daughter of Frederick A. Higgins, 44 Central st., graduated yesterday from Radcliffe college.

Scholarship Idea

One other proposal has received serious consideration, she revealed.

It would establish a scholarship fund to assist qualified children of Andover veterans to obtain a higher education.

She suggested that the money might be invested, with interest used to provide scholarships or that the fund itself be used for that purpose until it is completely spent.

"We're more than anxious to bring it to a head", declared Miss Greeley, "but not that anxious that we'll do anything that comes along".

There have been many meetings of the trustees, she declared, trying to arrive to a sensible solution to the problem. Just after the war, a letter was sent to Andover veterans containing some ideas and outlining the problem facing the trustees, in an attempt to get the reaction of the men. There was no poll taken of them at the time, however, she explained.

Veterans Want Building

It is known that the commanders of the veterans posts are interested in having the money made available for construction of a building. They have presented plans and estimates to the trustees during the past year.

A recent meeting of the commanders agreed to ask for a joint meeting with the trustees to take some action on the matter, according to reports.

Charles O. McCullom is chairman of the servicemen's fund trustees.

Her flowers were a cascade of white sweetheart roses, lavender gladioli and white statice. The bridesmaids,

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white embroidered nylon tulle fashioned with scalloped neckline and full bouffant skirt ending in a tiered train. A tiara encrusted with pearls held her finger tip veil of illusion and she carried a cascade arrangement of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley. TAX RATE AT ALL-TIME HIGH

it will not affect this year's rate.

Not included in the 1955 rate either are the bond issues for a new high school, most of the drainage project and additions to the West school. The bonds will be sold in 1956, according to Town Treasurer Thaxter Eaton, with no effect on 1955 rates.

The bond issue for the new school alone will be $175,000-000. The sum of $100,000 will be bonded for West school additions and the town will bond $145,000 for Rogers brook drainage projects.

The major projects to be paid for out of available funds, according to the treasurer, are the Shaw-sheen school, $85,000; $75,000 on drainage in addition to the bond issue; and $75,000 on the West school in addition to the bond issue.

Eaton Explains Borrowing

He had previously explained that the town would be able to avoid an excessive tax rate boost in 1955 by issuing the bonds in 1956 and borrowing some money this year in anticipation of the 1956 bonds. Even the interest on the short term loans of 1955, he explained, will be paid from the 1956 bond issues. Thus, they will not have any effect on the tax rate this year.

However, the 1956 tax rate will feel the effects of the bond issues, the treasurer has explained.

He also suggested that spending the available funds now may mean having to raise some additional money next year so that the town will continue to have surplus funds available for the following year which may be spent as were available funds in 1955.

Valuation Increases

Over a half million dollar increase in personal property and real estate valuation was recorded this year by the assessors in their final tabulations.

Real estate valuations grew by $567,475 to a total of $20,451,175.

Personal property valuations increased by $30,031 for a total this year of $2,706,275.

The total combined valuation recorded by the assessors is $23,157,450.

End Costly Road Tinkering...
Get the most out of motor funds
by paving with CONCRETE

Official records of the 24 states that report pavement maintenance costs by type of surface show that:

1. Concrete costs an average of only $161.99 per mile per year to maintain.
2. Other types of pavement cost from 36 to 143 per cent more to maintain.

That's important to you, Mr. Motorist, because your gasoline taxes and license fees pay for paving and for maintaining roads.

This is important too: Concrete, with the lowest average maintenance cost, generally carries the heaviest traffic. And it lasts the longest.

Durability and low annual cost. Good reasons why your new roads should be built of concrete.

Concrete roads save you money because of low maintenance costs. Present Route 28 north, Boston through Lawrence, is an example of this. Insist on concrete pavement on relocated 28. Get your money's worth again. Remember, it's your money that pays the bill.
